Foreword

"It is well for a man to respect his own vocation whatever it is, and to think himself bound to uphold it, and to claim for it the respect it deserves."

—Charles Dickens

As we go along the road of life, there will be many disappointments and heartbreaks; it will even seem difficult at times. Always keep in mind that there will be better days. Try to achieve the highest standard of which you are capable so that people will say to you, just as to the one to whom this book is dedicated, "Well done."

"Make the most of today. Keep a definite goal of achievement constantly in view. Realize that work well and worthily done makes life truly worth living."

—Grenville Kleiser

Edna Quaintance

Dedication

The class of 1953 proudly dedicates this First Lady to Mr. Elmer Quaintance.

Mr. Quaintance, better known to Whitneyites as "Elmer," is planning to retire after completing this year as supervisor of the maintenance department of Whitney.

Elmer was born in Portage, Ohio, in 1883, where he attended Portage grade and high schools. In this same town he married Ida R. Heminger. Next August Mr. and Mrs. Quaintance will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Just before World War I, they established a residence in Toledo.

Mr. and Mrs. Quaintance have been blessed with five children: Ruth, Wayne, Maxine, Helen, and Betty. Ruth was in the army, and is now employed at the Overland. Wayne has followed in his father's footsteps; he works for the Board of Education. Maxine is a bookkeeper for the Congress of Industrial Organizations, while Helen works at a Save-Way. Betty, the youngest, is a housewife with three children. Altogether they have nine grandchildren. One of them, Donna Barker, graduated from Whitney three years ago, and is now employed as a machine operator at the Toledo Trust Company.

First, Mr. Quaintance was a farmer; afterwards he worked at the Big Four Coal Company where he was a foreman fourteen years. Later, he came to the Board of Education where he worked for twenty-seven years: one year—at all of the schools, two years—Homeville portables, eight years—DeVilbiss, two years—Gunckel, fourteen years—Whitney.

Asked how he liked his work he replied, "I'm crazy about Whitney. It's the nicest and the best of schools. In an all girls school one doesn't have so much trouble. In the fourteen years that I've been here, no one has ever said an unkind word to me. Some may have wanted to, but they never did." He especially enjoyed being the lone male in the building. If he could have his choice of jobs, Elmer would come back to Whitney.

Among other things, Elmer enjoys fishing and puttering in his garden. After retiring, he intends to do odd jobs around his home and for other people.

In the future as we recall memories of school days at Whitney, each of us will have a warm spot in our hearts for Mr. Elmer Quaintance, who besides doing a good job, always had a smile and kind word for everyone.

We, the class of '53, wish Mr. Quaintance happiness and success in retirement.

—Joanne Mocek

MEN OF SERVICE

Rudyard Kipling in his poem "A School Song" pays tribute to individuals under whose tutelage he was placed in the following rhyme:

"Let us now praise famous men
Men of little showing
For their work contineuth
And their work continueth
Broad and deep continueth
Greater than their knowing!

Wherefore praise we famous men
From whose bays we borrow
They that put aside today
All the joys of their today
And with toil of their today
Bought for us tomorrow!"

This year the senior class honors such a man of service. May he long enjoy the fruits of his labor; Whitney will miss him. He commanded respect of students and earned it.

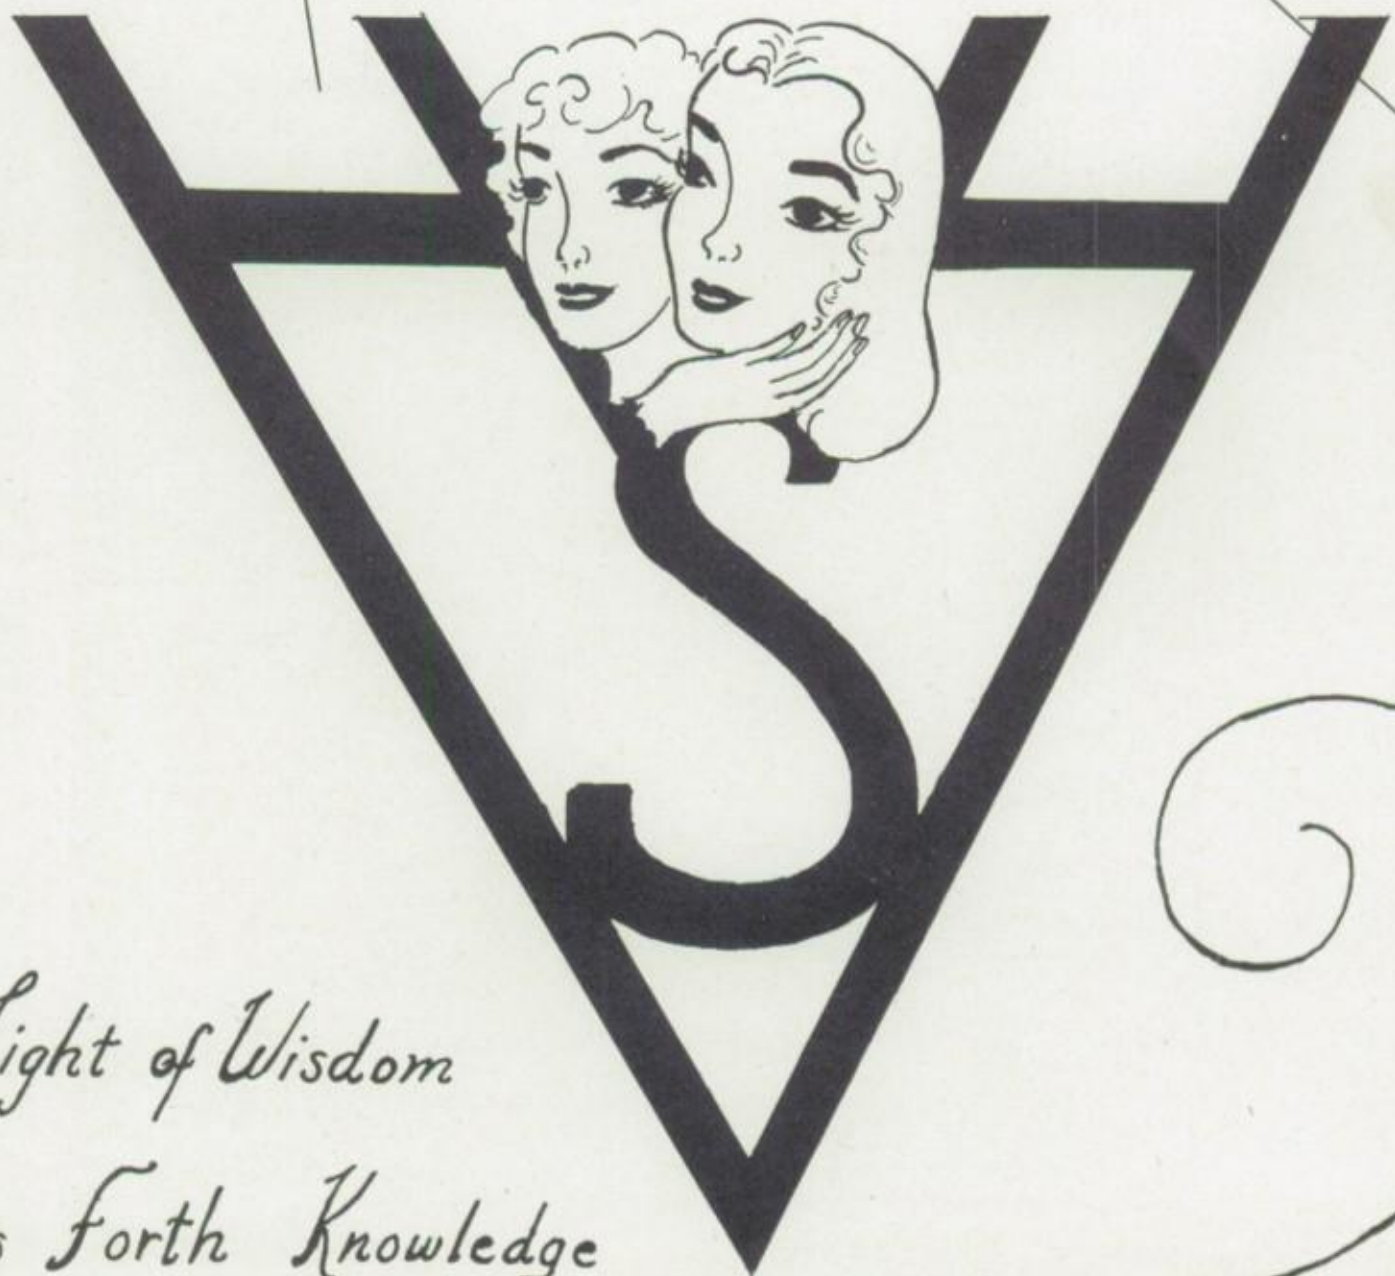

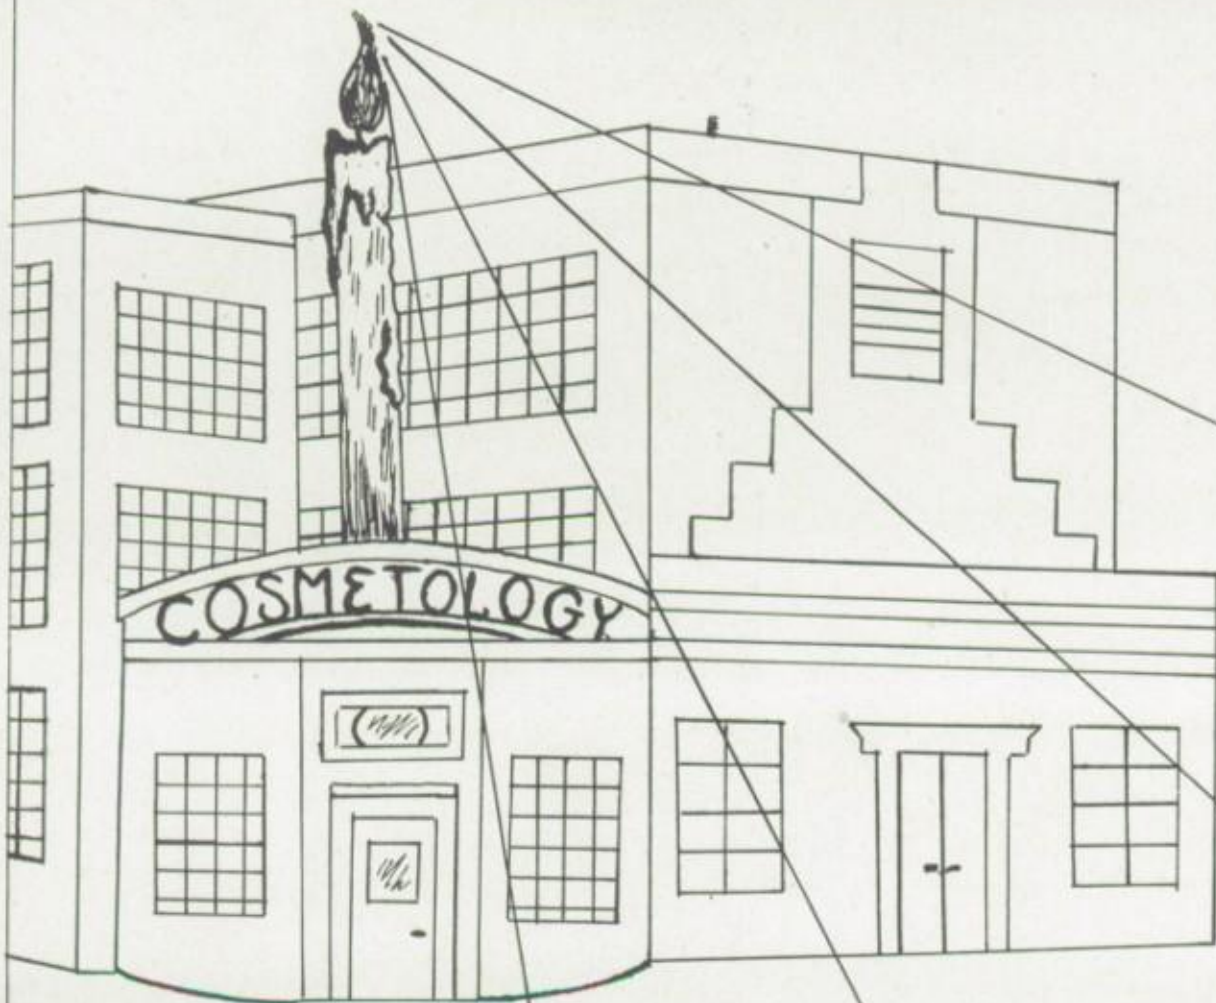

To the class of 1953 best wishes; may you have learned something of the unending benefits of service well rendered from the man to whom you dedicate First Lady.

—Ethel Wooden

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL

Miller, Charlene; Klocinski, Helen; Soules, Jean; McGarry, Dorothy; Binkowski, Delores; Collins, Phyllis; Ogden, Jackie.

Entering Whitney, sophomores have some weird visions. Since freshmen are not admitted, they have spent a year in another high school. They have no idea of what is expected.

To help them become acquainted a series of sophomore meetings are held. These have proved to be a great help to newcomers.

Instead of dividing the girls into homerooms, they are divided into shops. Before entering Whitney, the girls select their trade from the following: cosmetology, distributive education, foods, institutional service, needle trades, office practice. If there are more girls in a class than can be accommodated, the group is split into sections.

Each shop selects one girl to represent them on the sophomore council. This council serves as class officers—they outline the activities throughout the year. When an issue is before the council, it is first voted upon by each shop then their representative must cast a ballot accordingly at the final voting in the council. Handling decisions in this way, each girl takes part in planning.

Also, Whitney sponsors social activities. One of the highlights of the sophomore year is the party held after this series of meetings is completed. The party is usually a dance, with games and refreshments; however, the type is decided among themselves.

In addition to sophomore meetings, assemblies are held throughout the year in Macomber auditorium with the entire school present.

The most outstanding event of the year is Whitney Day. On this day teachers and pupils celebrate the beginning of Whitney. In the morning an assembly is held and colorful skits are presented. Participating girls parade through the halls before presenting charades. The day is ended by gathering in the gym where the prizes are presented.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Senger, Barbara-President; Schutt, Nancy-Vice President; Filas, Delphine-Secretary; Burden, Doris-Treasurer; Wagner, Mary-Sgt. at Arms.

In the junior year, girls feel that they are part of Whitney. By this time they have become accustomed to her traditions.

Instead of sophomore orientation, juniors have a series of shop demonstrations. The purpose of these meetings is to show the girls what fellow students learn in other trades. Each shop sponsors one meeting in which they demonstrate how they spend their days at school. This helps to acquaint the girls with the other girls in different shops; ordinarily they are in class with the same group each hour of every day.

Junior officers are elected at the close of the sophomore year. In addition to officers, each shop has a representative present at each meeting. They plan the school year in the same manner as the council.

Each class also has a mother's luncheon at which they are hostesses to their mothers in the tearoom.

The social event of the junior year is the prom. Previously the juniors have sponsored their own dance in the school gym. Each shop selected a candidate for queen, who was chosen at the prom by pinning each girl's name to a rose, then having Mr. Quaintance select one. The girl's name on the flower he chose reigned as queen.

This year it was decided to hold a junior, senior party. By combining the proms, a better orchestra could be hired.

Juniors look forward to junior-senior day. The junior class plans some entertainment for the seniors at this time. Last year it was an aqua show at the Y.W.C.A. Each junior escorts a senior to the program.

Highlight of the year is receiving class rings. That is a long anticipated event for every student.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Laberdee, Jackie—President; Harman, Alberta—Vice President; Roman, Evelyn—Secretary; Alberts, Martha—Treasurer; Rather, Betty—Sgt. at Arms.

Before we know it we are seniors about to be leaving Whitney. To most it comes much too soon.

Seniors sponsor a series of forums. This helps us become better acquainted with our community; in a short time we will be earning a living in this community.

Class officers are elected at the close of the junior year, and activities planned.

During the senior year, some shops are in school half time. The reason for this is that the girls are on the job gaining experience. Distributive education, foods, institutional service, needle trades work one week and are in school the next. Office practice employers expressed the desire to have workers in everyday. For that reason these girls are allowed to start work at one o'clock each day. Girls in cosmetology are not allowed to work until they have passed the state test. Because of this they work on pupils here in school instead of going out on the job.

In addition to traditions we have learned to love, there are many activities to look forward to in the senior year. Each shop plans a luncheon to which girls invite employers so that they may learn something about the training at Whitney.

This year we are the guests instead of the hostesses at junior, senior day. The prom will highlight the last school year for so many. Every cent is saved so that beautiful formals may be displayed on that important occasion.

Since September plans have been laid for the senior banquet and senior trip. These two activities prove most enjoyable.

Just before commencement is honors assembly. At this time all awards for honor students are made; scholarships are awarded. This is the last Whitney assembly seniors attend, and it is a memory that lasts forever.

Before we know it, commencement day arrives. As we walk down the aisle tears gather in our eyes. All enjoyable days at Whitney are over and gone. Her memories shall not perish.

PIROLLI, MARY
 Always pretty, always neat,
 In sports she can't be beat.

POITINGER, ELEANOR MAE
 Her success will never fall,
 For Eleanor is a friend to all.

POMERANZ, JOAN
 Short and cute with big brown eyes,
 An angel in disguise.

POPE, ANNA MARIE
Seldom seen without a smile.

PORENTAS, EVA
Short, sweet,
Oh, so neat.

POSADNY, LUCRETIA
No sinner, no saint perhaps,
But well the best of chaps.

POSAN, JEANNETTE ELIZABETH
Laugh when I laugh,
I seek no other fame.

We do our work and then we never sigh,

POSKARBIEWICZ, DORIS
Tiny and sweet is this little chick,
A gal with all kinds of tricks.

POTRATZ, MARILYN
Sweet and modest is she,
Like an angel to be.

PRECHT, MARY
Know thy work and do it.

PRYBA, CAROL
The things courage can do.

PRZYBYLSKI, BARBARA JEAN

Bright of spirit, gay of smile,
Barbara makes the day worthwhile.

PULS, MARJORIE

I have freedom in my soul,
In my soul I am free.

QUETSCHKE, MARYELLEN

Maryellen is really sweet,
As a pianist she can't be beat.

RATHER, BETTY

Betty Rather is the voice,
From office practice she's our choice.

We have a spirit that is hard to beat,

REINEKE, JANICE

Gaining friends is her aim,
She's an expert at this game.

REITER, LOIS

Great works are performed
Not by strength but by perseverance.

REMUSAT, RUTH

Here's a gal with a pleasing face,
Charming and full of grace.

RITCHEY, CAROLYN JEAN

Always friendly, always neat,
Knowing her has been a treat.

ROBEDEAU, JoANN

May she always stay the same,
Changing nothing but her name.

ROGERS, ELSIE

What a wonderful world this would be,
If all were as nice as our Elsie.

ROMAN, EVELYN

Here's a gal who has got the wit,
To become a sensational hit.

ROMAN, ROSE MARIE

She sighs and sighs,
Because of her size.

We're always loyal, and we never disagree.

ROSCOE, RENEE

Thought and character are one.

ROSE, PHYLLIS

She is an acquaintance to be desired.

ROSHONG, JOANNE

With her ambition,
She'll attain her mission.

RUSSELL, MARY LOU

A heart big enough for all.

RYBCZYNSKI, JOAN

Quiet minds cannot be perplexed or frightened.

SAYGERS, BARBARA

To go to college is Barbara's aim,
There she'll gain much fame.

SCHARDT, ROSEMARY

Kind of short, kind of slim,
Always sweet, always prim.

SCHEIL, KAREN

I think, therefore I am.

We'll always love the name of Whitney High.

SIEJA, EVELYN

With stamina and grit,
This girl's a big hit.

SIRCLE, SHIRLEY

Tops in all our books.

SMART, HELEN

Oh, happy world that has such people in it.

SMITH, JUDITH MARGUERITE

Blond hair and green eyes,
Combine with brains to take a prize.

SMITH, MARY ELIZABETH

Quiet, sweet,
Oh, so neat.

SOULES, PATRICIA

Blond and fair,
Really square.

SUCHTA, PEARL

As warm as a ruby,
As pure as a pearl.

SULLIVAN, ROMANE

Although new, she's made her place.

And always try to keep our standards high

TALTY, BARBARA

Withdrawn

THOMAS, HELEN MARIE

Sweetness and charm, intelligence too,
Her friends are many, her foes are few.

THOMAS, NINA MAE

Nina is a friend to all,
Rich or poor, great or small.

VEILLEUX, YVONNE

Sparkling eyes and ready wit,
Makes us like her quite a bit.

VOYLES, DORIS ANN

Doris Voyles tails,
But never bails.

WARN, DIANA MARIE

Five foot seven,
An angel from heaven.

WEAVER, GLORIA

Her thoughts are lucky.

WEHRLE, HELEN MAE

A girl of much ability.

And what we do, we do with all our might.

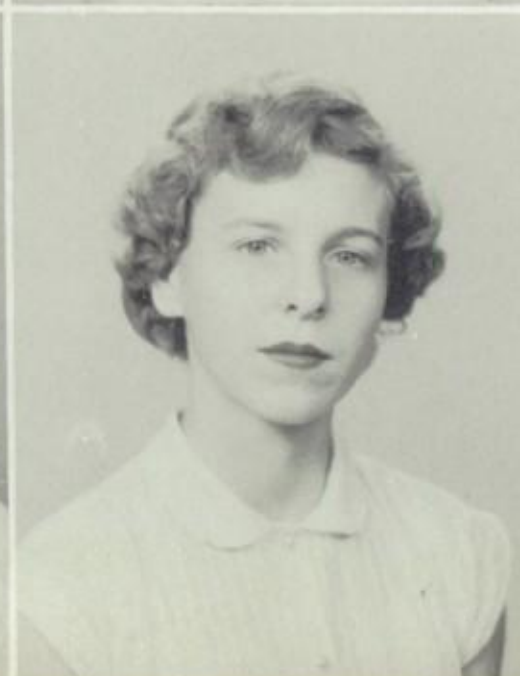

WESTON, KATHERINE NOLL

Charmingly sweet and always gay,
In hearts she's bound to stay.

WHIDDON, JANET

I am the master of my fate.

WILLARD, CAROL LEE

So full of joy and cheer,
Carol has proved most dear.

WILSON, DONNA JEAN

Big things come in small packages.

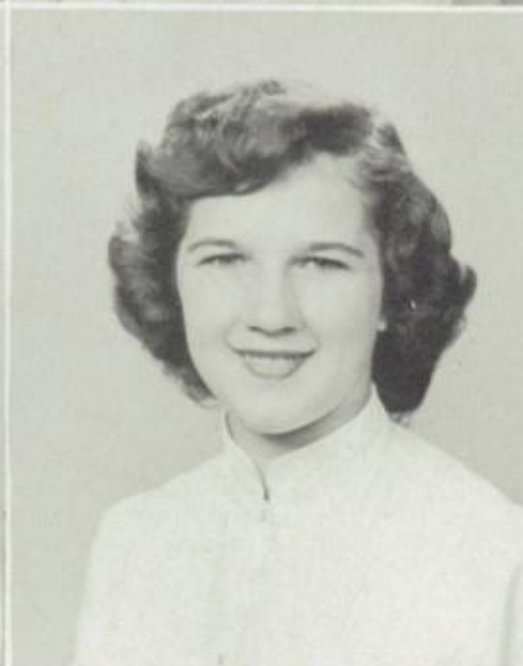

WILSON, JANICE

Short and sweet,
This kid is hard to beat.

WILSON, JO ANN

Beneath this mild exterior lies a little deviltry.

WISE, CAROL

Witty and wise,
She has beauty that catches all eyes.

WOJNAROWSKI, SHARON

A cheerful girl, friendly too,
She always has a smile for you.

Our mighty might, Whitney High!

ZAWIERUCHA, JOANNE

The end and aim of all education is the development of character.

ZAWIERUCHA, MARGARET

The only thing we have to fear is fear itself.

ZAWODNI, ANNETTE

A smiling face and twinkling eye
You simply cannot pass her by.

ZBIERAJEWSKI, JOAN

Shining eyes and curly locks,

imagine

ZBIERAJEWSKI, MARLENE

Five foot two blue-eyed beauty,
Always willing to do her duty.

ZIEGELHOFER, MARY ANN

A real nice person is Mary Z
She'll always be a friend to me.

ZEIGLER, DOROTHY

Rather small, rather slim,
Full of vigor, full of vim.

ZIELINSKI, PAT

Class live wire and leader.

NO PICTURE SUBMITTED

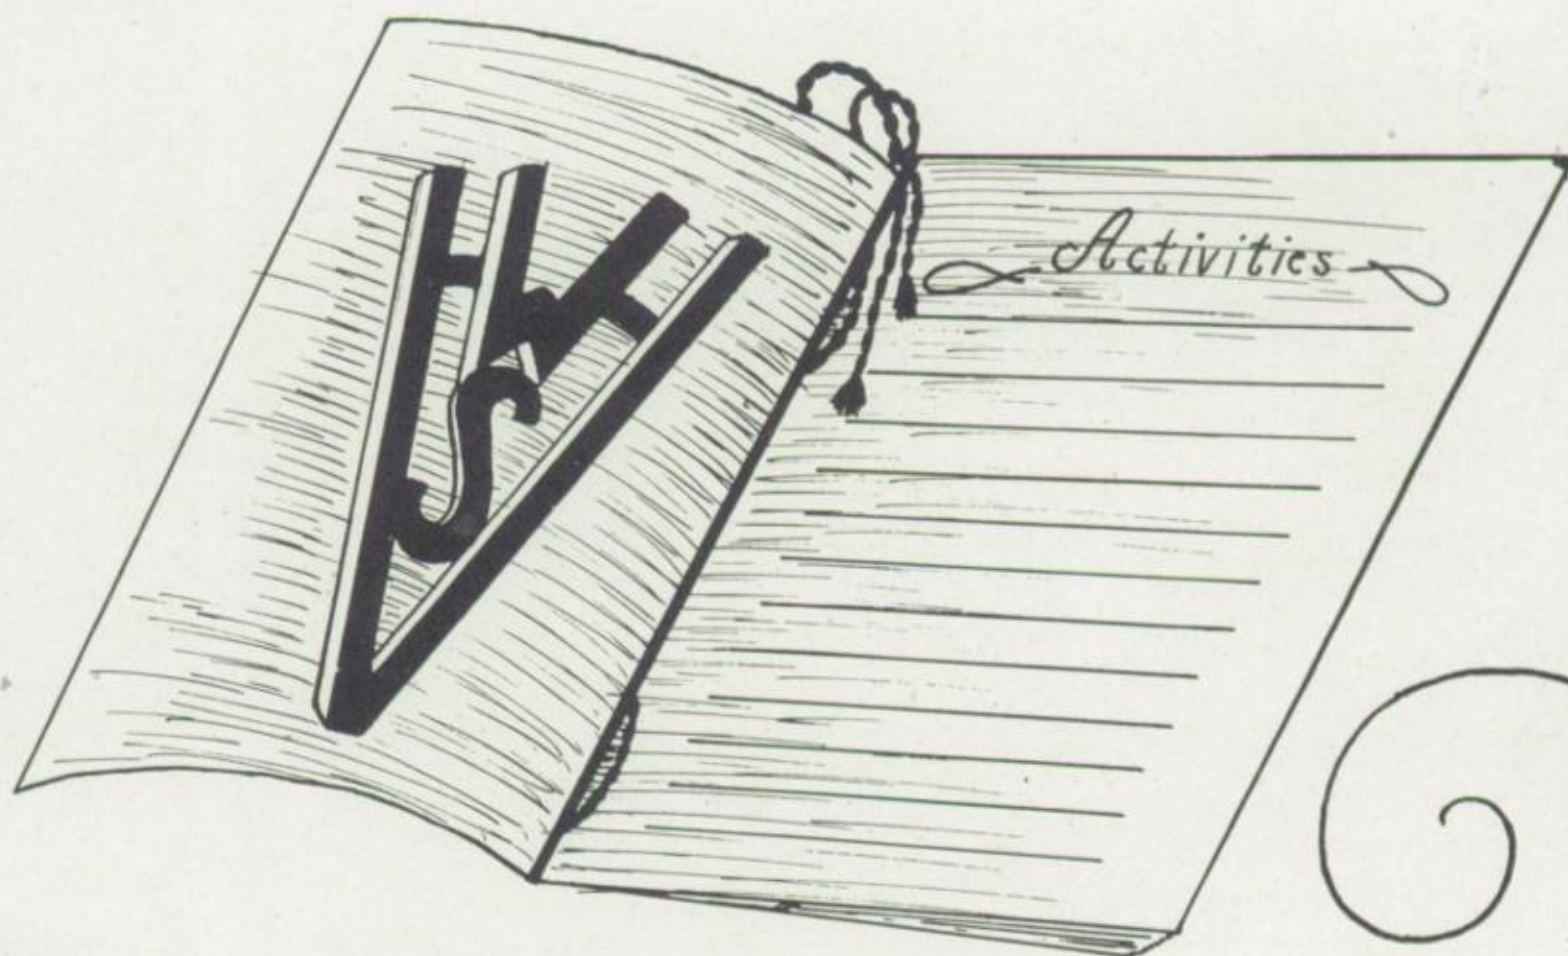

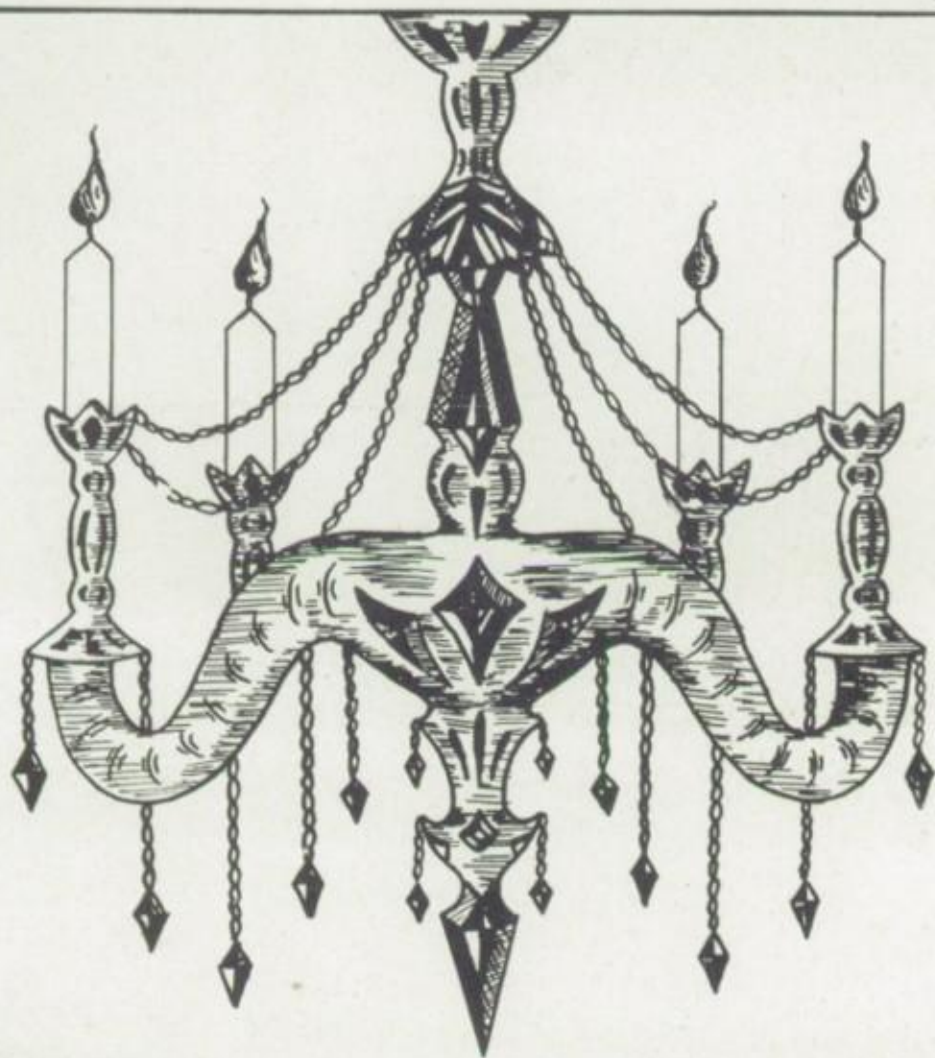

WARD, JAYNE

Better late than never.
